We will take you to one of the most famous Shiva temples of Pithoragarh, a place deeply rooted in mythology and devotion. It is believed that when Mata Sati sacrificed her life, Lord Shiva performed intense penance here in his Bhairagi form. Since then, this sacred place came to be known as Taposthal. Lord Shiva is believed to reside here in the form of Jateshwar Mahadev, still engaged in eternal penance.

The Kamakhya Devi Temple is one of the 51 Shakti Peethas, revered pilgrimage sites in Hinduism dedicated to various aspects of the divine feminine, Shakti. According to legend, Sati, the consort of Lord Shiva, self-immolated in a sacrificial fire. Overcome with grief, Lord Shiva carried her body across the universe, and wherever parts of her body fell, Shakti Peethas emerged. The Kamakhya Devi Temple is believed to enshrine Sati's yoni (womb), imbuing the temple with immense spiritual significance.
